WHOSE BABY?

Has the Bay St. Louis bridge become an orphaned project? News and quotes of the civic and political leaders urging the building of a new bridge, with editorial comments of the daily papers have received much publicity, and as yet, with all of the urging and pleading, not one solution has been offered other than the usual statement that the Legislature will have to act.

The State Highway Planning Committee report, dealing with the road problems of the State woefully neglected the subject. The people of the Coast want and expect a new bridge to replace the old dilapidated and dangerous structure which the traveling public over Highway 90 is forced to use at this time. Is it a mystery how the state will raise $3,000,000 for its share of this project? Someone has fallen down on the job, and is trying to cover up by crying about the large sum of money it will take to build the most important link on the most important highway in the State of Mississippi. John Smith's statement that we don't have the money and that the legislature must act, we think is just a lot of poppycock. The Legislature is 1946 authorized the issuance of $30,000,000 of highway bonds, which matched with Federal aid, made a total of over $55,000,000 or more available to the Highway Commission for construction work since 1946. Under the law this sum has to be divided into equal parts for each district. The southern district's share exceeded $18,000,000. The law, however, does not state that the amount must be divided equally between the counties of the district. This is left to the discretion of the commission.

There is $5,000,000 of the $30,000,000 bond issue authorized by the legislature of 1946 yet unsold, and the southern district's share of this unsold issue amounts to over $1,600,000. At the present time there is a balance of over $3,000,000 in the maintenance funds of the State Highway Commission, and with the proper urging the Federal Bureau of Roads would probably give more than the usual 50% appropriation because of the importance of highway 90 in national defense.

Mr. Smith was undoubtedly mistaken when he stated there were no funds available for this all important link in highway 90. Will he tell us why the State Highway Commission could not use some of this money? Will he tell us if it isn't a fact that his district's share of the maintenance funds exceeds $2,000,000 per year? Tell us, John, is it not true that you are at the present time controlling the policies of the State Highway Commission and if you were interested in rebuilding the Hancock-Harrison county bridge over the Bay of St. Louis you could have $3,000,000 set aside out of the maintenance fund balance and from the bonds which are unsold, which together with Federal aid would be an ample amount to build this structure? This would solve the problem, wouldn't it? You are in the driver's seat and you hold the key to the situation.

This bridge is one of the most valuable assets of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. We on the Coast have depended and are dependent upon the people of New Orleans for what we now call tourist trade. Many of our people have earned their livelihood from this source. If this bridge was destroyed Bay St. Louis would probably be the least of the Coast cities affected, however we are one large area, divided only by imaginary lines, all interested in its development and growth.

John, this orphaned project is your official offspring. What are you going to do about it? While you are reaching a decision bear in mind that Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties have paid their way for Highway 90 and that the State Highway Commission, so far has failed us.

NEW ANGLES

To The Editor:

This morning's Times-Picayune article shows that the "easy-money" boys are at it again in Hancock County, at Pearlington, Miss. Poor Hancock County hasn't enough troubles from the after-effects of the "Big Wind" and the highway shake-downs case of a short time ago, now up pops a new wrinkle in "Tourist Travelers' nuisances." If these public officials would devote their time to something more constructive, and productive, for their community, they would be doing themselves a favor (financially) and the whole county a good turn. This petty stuff is becoming a habit, and I'll wager that this week-end alone, the entire Gulf Coast will lose several thousand dollars in trade because the "boys" at Pearlington want to pick up a few $5 dollar bills. People are not going to be travelling to the Gulf Coast for week-ends, or vacations, if every time they get to the Mississippi line someone is waiting there for them with a "new deal." What is the matter with the merchants, hotels, restaurants, owners, gas station owners, etc.? Can't they see their business is being hurt each time by such unfavorable advertising, and that eventually all of the Auto Associations (Nationally) will pick this up and notify its Tourist Travel Members to avoid the Gulf Coast. Good gosh, don't somebody have some sense and gumption on the Gulf Coast with influence and power to take hold of this kind of monkey-business for the

LETTERS

Gulf Coast's own benefit? Seems to me that if the officials work against the best interest of a community they could be recalled, or thrown out of office once and for all. Don't people realize that New Orleans (or anyone else) will not make investments in Gulf Coast property, or business (which pays the taxes). That people won't go to the Gulf Coast as tourists, week-enders, or vacationists, if they know they are going to be continually harassed. Common sense tells anyone that the tail wagging the head is not good business in business or public affairs. For a few dollars for the individuals, the majority loses thousands in many different ways. Too, don't forget that Florida is not too far away these days from New Orleans with their good roads, and surf-bathing, and added features that is building them up a good tourist trade continuously. And Louisiana has plenty of water-front property and with the Fontainebleau Park at Mandeville (crowded every Sunday now), and with a new bridge contemplated, and a new paved highway circling the water reaches it won't be long before the Gulf Coast will lose its attraction. Fishing: Louisiana has plenty of good fishing, and one is not harassed by "game wardens" with rulers in their pockets looking for someone to nail for a fine and a big one too. It takes all the pleasure of travel and recreation, and peace-of-mind out of a trip to the Gulf Coast with such goings-on. Better wake up before it is too late, it's costing you people plenty of money—money that you can use. And, too, I wonder what right any highway cop, city or county cop, has to question a driver's license of a foreign car that is "in transit" on a U. S. public highway. If a law is violated, that applies to a local situation, that is a different story, but to grab people promiscuously is Gestapo methods, and Un-American. I have been a Gulf-Coast booster for more than thirty years, but lately it is getting to be something with all these new-fangled uncomplimentary angles for profit.

Sincerely yours,
ARMAND J. SCULLY, SR

WITHIN RIGHTS

To The Editor:

A few weeks ago a letter was published by Edward Fayard, a member of the volunteer Fire Department, with reference to the purchase of a case of beer by Mayor Carver following the last meeting of the department.

That letter reminded me of the cowardly act of a man running up from behind another man giving him a punch in the back. In the first place, Mayor Carver did not suggest the purchase of the case of beer. It was suggested by other members of the Department and consented to by all present. Mr. Fayard was there but did not raise his voice in protest. In the second place, each member pays his monthly dues of fifty cents at each meeting and if the Department sees fit to spend money for the entertainment of its members there is nothing in the by-laws to prevent its doing so. In the third place, the Department has given two benefit dances and Mr. Fayard was at neither one of those dances to lend his assistance in raising the approximate $100.00 which we now have in the Volunteer Fire department fund. We believe that the Volunteer Fire Department acted within its rights in buying the case of beer after the last meeting.

OUR CHINESE POLICY

The biggest sensation this week was occasioned by the release on the so-called China White Paper. This is a one-thousand-page book, published by the State Department seeking to explain our policy in China. This White Paper will be the subject of bitter debate here and abroad for years to come. In money and military equipment we have spent several billions of dollars trying to bolster democratic forces in China, and trying to save them from Communist domination.

An editorial in the Scripps-Howard newspapers blames General George C. Marshall for the Chinese debacle. This editorial claims that the Nationalist government, the so-called democratic forces of China, under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, was winning the civil war against the Communists until General Marshall's trip over there, and until we stopped sending the tremendous quantities of military equipment. It was General Marshall who came back and reported that our aid was being dissipated, that much of our military equipment was being delivered to and used by the Communies, and that the National government was corrupt to the core.

Our State department, headed by Dean Acheson, now contends that to effectively aid the Chinese Democrats in their war against the Chinese Communies would cost more billions and require the services of American personnel, and might even then be unsuccessful. In other words, the official position of our government is that the gamble is not worth taking. We have concluded that we have no real alternative other than to let China stew in her own juice, so to speak. Admittedly, the Chinese must suffer individually and collectively from a lack of ideals and integrity, "The wages of sin is death".

Hypocrisy, publicity and a lack of honesty can and will destroy any people, however rich or powerful they may be. Our own hands are not entirely clean, and we should take warning.

COTTON ACREAGE ALLOTMENT

This week the House agreed to a conference report on the cotton allotment bill. This bill gives the Agriculture authority to allot and restrict cotton acreage. The bill is deemed necessary if the government is to support the price of cotton. For a number of years our cotton acreage has averaged a little over 20 million acres. This year cotton acreage amounts to 26 million acres. Under existing law the Secretary of Agriculture could not reduce cotton acreage below 27,500,000 acres. The bill just passed reduces this amount to 21 million acres in 1950, and allows a still further reduction in 1951 if the same becomes necessary.

Home Notes

By Madge Allred

At the annual meeting of the State Home Demonstration Council last week at State college, council delegates selected the following topics to study during 1950.

January — What are we doing in our state for displaced persons.

February — Outlook for the New Year.

March — Study of Mississippi Industries - Forestry, rayon and tung oil.

April — What are we doing to strengthen friendship in other Nations?

May — Study of Mississippi industries - minerals.

June — Health Program - Progress of Mississippi hospital program.

July — Study of Mississippi industries - uses of cotton.

The study course and program planning committee recommended the use of as interesting methods as possible in presenting programs, research study, tours to industries, and use of all members in program study. Councils which wish to substitute for some of these subjects may feel free to use other timely and helpful subjects.

Uses of Cotton

The cotton committee presented the following recommendations:

1. Each home demonstration farm family grow one variety of cotton, recommended by the State Extension Service.

2. Home demonstration women sponsor a household linen exhibit made of cotton during the year.

3. Each home demonstration county council sponsorstyle shows in connection with the State Council and Farm Bureau style shows.

4. Home Demonstration women encourage the use of suitable year-round cotton materials.

5. That one of the council's optional educational topics be on cotton uses and finishes found on cotton materials.

6. Home Demonstration women in buying materials demand they be labeled as to fiber content.

7. Ask your stores to make cotton exhibits during National Cotton Week.

8. Each County appoint a cotton uses chairman.

9. News articles be prepared from Extension department on cotton and sent to each county.

HEALTH

The health committee recommended the following:

1. That each county appoint a health chairman and send the name and address of the county chairman to the state chairman by February 1.

2. That each club appoint a health leader to be responsible for all health programs and activities in her community.

3. That each county have at least two programs on health during the year, one with emphasis on nutrition.

4. Encourage farm families to budget the family income to include health protection and medical and hospital service.

5. That local organizations avail themselves of state funds to match county funds for correction of physical defects of children, such as tonsilectomies, having glasses fitted and dental work.

6. That each county cooperate with health department or other organizations in holding pre-school clinics and in having immunization programs.

7. That all children of 15 years of age and older and all club members be urged to have chest X-rays by Mobile units when possible.

8. That Home Demonstration club members cooperate with other organizations in securing full time health units for all counties and avail themselves of the service offered by the Health Department.

Mississippi Gets Aid Against Polio

Mississippi's contribution to the annual March of Dimes fund is flowing back to her. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the past four months has returned a total of $42,250 to 21 counties of the state to aid in paying for hospital and medical care of polio patients. This was announced today by Dr. Felix J. Underwood, State Health officer and March of Dimes chairman, who said that since January 1, 160 cases have been reported to the state board of health.

At the same time V. T. Anthony, state representative, National Foundation, announced that a total of 90 Mississippi polio patients are under treatment at the Vicksburg hospital and the Mercy Hospital, both in Vicksburg. Several patients have made sufficient recovery to be discharged from the hospitals. Mississippi polio patients hospitalized out of the State are 8 in Memphis, 3 in New Orleans, 2 in Florida and 1 in Birmingham.

"The National Foundation's work is financed entirely by contributions to the March of Dimes, half of which is retained by local chapters and is used to pay hospital and medical bills, cost of applications, and transportation for local patients," said Mr. Anthony. "The other half is used by the National Office for scientific research, education and training, and supplementary aid to chapters."

"Infantile paralysis is one of the most expensive diseases known to medicine, and few families can meet the cost of extended treatment. The National Foundation has pledged that no polio patient need go without care and treatment for want of funds, regardless of age, race, creed or color."

Dr. Underwood announced that the following counties have received funds from the National Foundation after depleting local March of Dimes funds for providing care for patients: Alcorn, $1,000; Amite, $4,300; Carroll, $975; Greene, $850; Grenada, $1,225; Humphreys, $2,875; Lafayette, $450; Madison, $7,200; Marshall, $2,250; Monroe, $3,125; Newton, $750; Panola, $1,200; Pearl River, $500; Rankin, $1,975; Tate, $1,800; Tippah, $675; Tunica, $1,500; Union, $1,550; Walthall, $4,150; Yazobusha, $1,900; Yazoo, $2,000.

SAVINGS and SECURITY

There is a lot of loose thinking on the subject of security. We are even led to believe that security is security from a government that squanders the partysomething that can be supplied to us by others.

Government, in one form or another, promises security. We cannot, however, expect too much security from a government that squanders the partymony of our fathers and mortgages the future of our children to provide a synthetic prosperity. The best security Government can give is to maintain an economic, social and political climate in which the individual is free to give full expression to his industry and genius, under the protection of laws that guarantee equal opportunity and equal justice.

No extravagance can equal in ultimate disaster to a people the extravagance of a government that consistently lives beyond its means, postpones the payment of its debts and refuses to balance its budget. Such a policy makes for insecurity.

Of course this nation was built by adventurous individuals and with venture capital. "Nothing risked, nothing gained" is good American doctrine. Our prosperity was created by men who could afford to take a chance—a chance with their own money. But to millions of average men with a little money, "It's better to be safe than sorry."

Never before have our workers saved so much out of their earnings. So far this year their savings exceed ten percent of their total incomes. These savers plan their own security.

Financial security is a by-product of self-reliance and self-denial. And there is no security that can surpass in self-satisfaction the security for which one has striven, sacrificed and saved.

Happiest are they who have consistently saved out of their past to provide for their future. Theirs is that peace of mind and feeling of independence that comes with being prudent.

Be secure. Earn all you can, spend what you must and save what you should in a bank that provides security as a service.

George L. Lemon Is Named District Highway Engineer

George L. Lemon has been appointed district engineer for the State Highway Commission at Hattiesburg to succeed J. W. Kornrumpf. Mr. Kornrumpf's resignation is effective Sept. 1.

Mr. Lemon is currently with the highway department at Vicksburg, as an assistant district engineer and has been with the department 17 years.

Mr. Kornrumpf started as a draftsman in the Jackson office after graduating from Mississippi State and had been with the state for 17 years. His duty as district engineer began in April 1946.

The new district engineer was born and raised on the Gulf Coast, attended schools at Ocean Springs in Jackson County, Ferkinston Junior college, and Mississippi State college. He graduated with a degree in civil engineering in 1930, joining the highway department in 1932.

Other than military leave during the war, Mr. Lemon has been with the highway department in various positions without interruption. He served on active duty with the army corps of engineers and is a member of the officers reserve with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

In revealing Kornrumpf's request to be relieved, Commissioner Smith stated the resignation came as a surprise and was accepted with "deep personal regrets."

Symptoms Vary In Other Forms Of VD Infections

Gonorrhea is one of the most prevalent of all infectious diseases, and the same patient may have syphilis and gonorrhea at the same time. The two diseases are completely separate and are entirely two different infections. The main similarity is that they both infect principally the same section of the body, and they are both spread through intimate physical contact.

Gonorrhea symptoms appear very quickly anywhere from two to ten days after exposure, but usually three. Sometimes untreated gonorrhea may result in sterility of the patient. A result of gonorrhea in pregnant women is the infection of the eyes of the baby at birth. The cases of blindness in babies due to gonorrhea are held in check by state laws which require the use of prophylactic fluids in the child's eye immediately after birth. This fluid is either silver nitrate or aqueous penicillin.

Gonorrhea is much more easily noticeable to the individual than syphilis. In instances of gonorrhea, a rich creamy discharge is noticed by the patient, and usually pain and burning are experienced during urination. Latent gonorrhea is more difficult to diagnose accurately.

A great hindrance to the education of gonorrhea is the nonchalant attitude toward gonorrhea by many persons who feel that gonorrhea "is no worse than a cold." Gonorrhea causes sterility, crippling, and insanity. What could can do that? In the female, it can also cause acute abdominal pain. Surgery is required on many females due to late complications.

In addition to syphilis and gonorrhea, there are three other diseases classified as venereal diseases in our medical literature. These diseases do not present a very serious problem to public health in this area.

Chancroid or "soft chancre" is a contagious ulcer, spread by direct physical contact. The infection usually develops within three to five days after exposure and later develops into an ulcerlike sore. The ulcers are very painful and may bleed easily.

Granuloma inguinale is also an infectious ulcerlike sore not necessarily contracted in the genital area of the body. An infection of this type is spread by erosion into the surrounding tissues, usually producing a very unpleasant odor and frequently lasting for many years. If treatment is not begun early enough, large amounts of tissue may be eaten away resulting in permanent deformity.

Hiway Committee Work Is Begun On Law Program

The Enforcement Committee of the Governor's Highway Safety Conference held its initial meeting in Jackson last week and began work on a comprehensive program or traffic law enforcement which will be submitted to the Conference for approval when held this fall.

Honorable J. G. Holmes, chairman of the committee, said the forthcoming report will be divided into three parts—the State Highway Safety patrol and local police agencies—and the other with courts trying traffic cases. "Our first investigations indicate that a lot can be done toward improving the accident-prevention quality of work done by both agencies," he said.

Mr. Holmes emphasized that several weeks' work will be necessary before the committee can present definite findings.

Lymphogranuloma venereum is an infection in the genital region caused by a filterable virus. The incubation period is from one to three or four weeks and is characterized by a drainage from the lymph nodes of the groin. Some of the symptoms of this infection are loss of appetite, loss of weight, rheumatic symptoms, eruption on the skin, etc.

These diseases may be prevented in most cases by a high degree of personal cleanliness. For any further information about the venereal diseases call your family physician or your local health department.

Hunting and Fishing On Increase In State

Folks in Mississippi like to hunt and fish according to statistics compiled in the license sale division of the State Game and Fish Commission. Nearly a quarter of a million, (246,244 to be exact, paid license fees during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949 for the privilege of engaging in some form of hunting, trapping or fishing requiring licenses under the state laws.

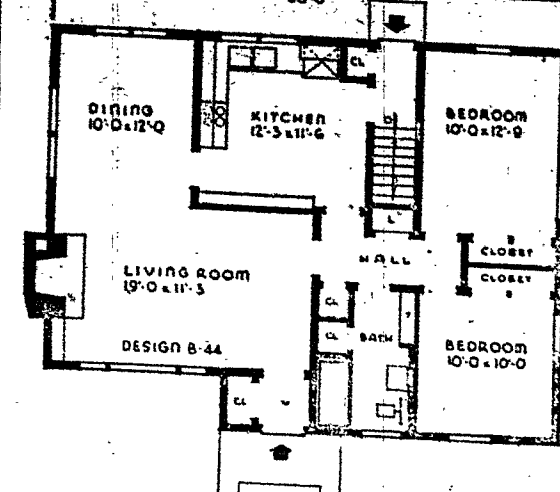

Of this number 93,355 paid a state wide license fee of $3.00 to the commission for the privilege of hunting game (in season) or fishing (year-round in Mississippi) anywhere in the state. This group accounted for 37% of the total number of licenses purchased of all types. They paid into the game and fish protection fund a total of $280,245.00 or 54% of the total revenue derived from license sales.

The largest number of any one particular type of license sold was the county hunting license which was purchased by 96,618 individuals. This license sells for $1.00 and entitles the purchaser to hunt only within the confines of the county in which the license is issued. Sales of county hunting licenses accounted for 18% of the total revenue received in the game and fish protection fund. "It should be assumed that only 246,000 people hunt and fish in Mississippi," said Director R. M. Freeman, who pointed out that people over 65 and youngsters under 16 years of age do not have to have licenses according to law. He also observed, "Thousands of Mississippians engage in pole fishing with worms, or what have you, and they do not have to pay a license either."

On the basis of recent estimates made by the State Department of Public Welfare there are 115,000 people over 65 and 750,000 under 16 years of age in the state. "We do not think that every one of these 865,000 people engage in hunting and fishing, but we do know there are hundreds of thousands who do fish and many who hunt who do not have to have a license," said Director Freeman.

Estimates made by personnel of the commission, including pole and worm fishing and those who are over or under required ages, plus the quarter of a million who purchase licenses, indicate that perhaps 700,000 Mississippians engage in fishing or hunting some time during the year.

THE BRYANT has a compact plan which provides for two bedrooms and a dining room. In The Bryant's plan the living room and dining room was joined together to form one large L-shaped room.

The Bryant's kitchen is entered from the basement stair hall. This hall is equipped with a convenient coat closet. Kitchen cabinets, in the Bryant's work room, are efficiently arranged to save steps. They include a high cabinet on the inside wall of the kitchen, under which there is ample space for a breakfast set.

Closet space in The Bryant is also generous. Closet areas include a general closet and a linen closet in the hall. There is a towel cabinet and a linen closet in the bathroom. Each of the two bedrooms contains a roomy wardrobe.

Construction of The Bryant is of frame with wood joints and partitions. Siding is used for the exterior walls. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

Overall dimensions of The Bryant are 28 feet by 38 feet with a full basement. The house contains 1,010 square feet and 20,200 cubic feet.

GROWING STATE PARK SYSTEM TO DRAW 300,000 THIS YEAR

At least 300,000 persons in 1949 are expected to visit Mississippi's excellent system of state parks, which have been expanded with the addition of an eleventh park at Shelby Lake this summer.

Close to 135,000 persons had already made trips to the 10 state parks during the first six months of the year, despite a rainy Spring and early Summer season.

Latest park to be acquired by the park division of the State Forestry Commission is Camp Shelby State Park which was deeded to the state by the Forrest County Board of Supervisors.

An appropriation of $100,000 made by the state since the War has been used to provide vacation cabins, a camp unit, wells, swimming piers, a boat pier, spillway repairs, war surplus buildings and 20 aluminum boats.

The park, which was opened to the public August 1st, is located just south of Hattiesburg on U. S. Highway 49, easily accessible to the motorist.

In addition to this newest addition, Mississippi has ten other state parks that offer the vacationist swimming, boating, fishing, comfortable cabins, camp and picnic grounds and rustic lodges equipped with dining rooms, and assembly halls suitable for groups.

In the 10 parks there are 90 vacation cabins, 10 picnic areas, four with camp accommodations, and all with swimming facilities, and nine with boating privileges.

Each park is heavily timbered with trees common to the locality. Wooded areas have been protected from fire and allowed to develop in nature's own way, providing a haven for wildlife as well as vacationists.

Lakes, ranging in size from 60 to 600 acres, are well stocked with fish and equipped with all the facilities for swimming, and in most cases for boating. For lovers of the piscatorial art, game fish—bass, bream, bluegills, crappie, and the like—abound. The limit in all parks is: bream 15, bass 6, crappie 6, and an aggregate of 15.

In size, the parks vary from 250 acres to 2,440 acres. Leroy Percy State Park, the largest of the 10. Four of the parks—Magnolia, Percy, Quin, Roosevelt, and Clarke—are equipped to accommodate an average of 600 persons at a time, and, therefore, are particularly popular for group camps and assemblies. Many of the cabins are equipped with butane gas, hot and cold running water, electricity, and are adequate for year-round living.

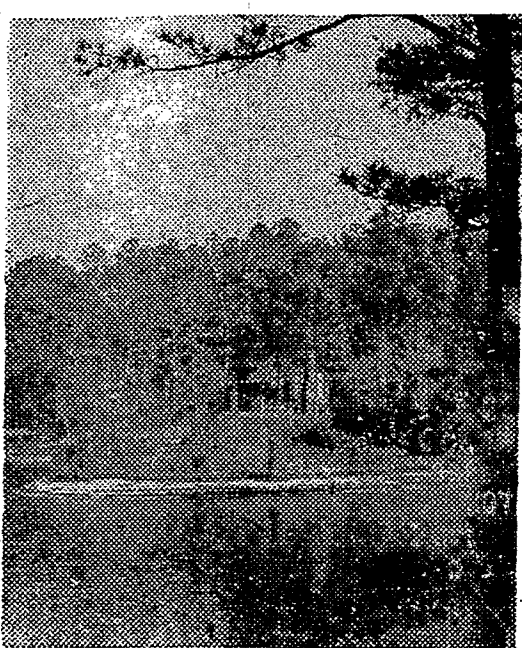

Another system of smaller roadside parks, which are being installed and maintained by the Mississippi Highway Department, also are attracting thousands of motorists using the state's fine paved road system.

A. B. Holmes, landscape engineer in charge of the project, reports that 24 of these projects averaging one acre in size, are now open to the public along the state's principal mainline highways. Property for these roadside areas has been donated by the state, and since property owners in all cases have donated the acreage.

Each park contains picnic areas, the average being four units, and two fireplaces. Instructive concrete tables have been installed and the areas are kept clean and neatly trimmed by the State Highway Department.

Latest addition to Mississippi's fine system of state parks is the Camp Shelby Park on U. S. Highway 49 south of Hattiesburg. Used by soldiers during World War II, this beautiful park and lake was recently deeded to the state by the Forrest County Board of Supervisors. Miss. A. & I. Board Photo.

This rustic log cabin at Clarke State Park off U. S. Highway 45 south of Meridian is typical of the accommodations to be found in parks scattered conveniently throughout the state. Ten of these cabins are available at Clarke. Miss. A. & I. Board Photo.

In addition to these and the new Shelby Lake Park, Mississippi's parks and their facilities are as follows:

Magnolia State Park, four miles east of Biloxi on Highway 90 overlooking the Gulf, has seven convenient and comfortable concrete cabins fully equipped for year-round accommodations for between 250 and 350 persons. This park, entirely covered by timber, offers vacationers swimming, boating, fishing, picnicking and camping.

Percy Quin State Park, six miles southwest of McComb on Highway 48, boasts a 621-acre lake, spacious lodge buildings, assembly hall, dining hall and rustic brick cabins adequate to accommodate 250 persons. This park provides swimming, boating, fishing, picnicking and camping privileges.

Roosevelt State Park, 35 miles east of Jackson on Highway 80, has a 100-acre lake, recreation and dining hall, rustic cabins with accommodations for 125 persons, and provides vacationers with swimming, boating, fishing and picnicking.

Clarke State Park, 23 miles south of Meridian on Highway 15, has a 65-acre lake fed by a large spring. Ten vacation cabins are located near the east rim of the lake, and are equipped with cooking facilities. Swimming, fishing, picnicking, and group accommodations are available.

Legion State Park, 3 miles north of Louisville, offers the vacationist boating, swimming, fishing, and boasts a large lodge and adequate camping sites, picnic grounds and ample accommodations for banquets and conferences.

Leroy Percy State Park, 4 miles west of Hollandale, typical of the Delta, has 12 vacation cabins built of oak logs, equipped with modern appliances for convenience and comfort. It is the largest of the state parks, and abounds in wildlife.

Holmes County State Park, 3 miles south of Durant on Highway 51, offers boating, swimming and excellent fishing in a lake stocked with bass, crappie and bream. Comfortable vacation cabins on the lakeshore, and picnic grounds offer a restful setting for the visitor.

Spring Lake State Park, 7 miles south of Holly Springs, derives its name from the cold, bubbling springs which feed a beautiful 60-acre lake which abounds in bream, crappie and bass. Eight comfortable cabins provide adequate accommodations for visitors interested in fishing, swimming, boating, picnicking and camping.

Tishomingo State Park, 2 miles southeast of Tishomingo on Highway 25, named for an Indian chief, is indeed a happy hunting ground for visitors seeking recreation and relaxation. There are 12 cabins and a spacious lodge providing accommodations for individuals and groups.

Tombigbee State Park, six miles southeast of Tupelo, boasts a 100-acre lake well stocked with game fish and offering excellent swimming. Vacation cabins, hot and cold water, and cooking accommodations make this an ideal vacation spot.

HOGGING OFF CROPS

Hogging off is a practice which offers advantages. It is a timely subject in Mississippi, where increasing corn yields are making expanded hog production programs possible.

This practice reduces the cost of harvesting and saves storage space. It tends to increase soil fertility as the crop residue is left on the land. The system is also good in soil conservation, as it provides for almost continuous land cover. It aids sanitation practices in hog raising.

Hogging off crops helps to distribute both labor and income more uniformly throughout the year.

Following are recommended practices for hogging off corn:

Turn hogs in when the corn begins to dent and harden. The number of animals per acre will depend on the expected yield.

Remember, it generally requires seven to eight bushels of corn to finish a hog, making 100 pounds of gain.

Hogging off small areas keeps animals from wandering, so they make greater daily gains and clean up the area quicker. Also, animals reaching market weight can be easily caught in a smaller area, and the ground can be prepared for winter grazing crops as these areas are cleaned.

Cross fence fields to divide them into smaller areas for hogging off.

Give hogs the run of from five to 10 acres, depending on the number of animals turned in. Some think it best to limit groups to not more than 250 animals.

As areas become fairly well cleaned up, move heavy animals to a new area, leaving light animals to clean up the old one.

An electric cross fence works satisfactorily.

Free choice protein supplement, part of animal origin, should be available. With the high cost of animal problem at this time, mixing in equal parts cotton seed meal, soybean meal or alfalfa meal is recommended.

It is particularly important that oats for fall and winter grazing be fertilized properly and planted on time if they are to best serve their purpose.

have access to a wallow, fresh drinking water should be provided.

Limit the amount of salt at the beginning, gradually approaching free choice in about five to seven days.

Market hogs at light weight, which is about 200 pounds.

Keep animals healthy and free of internal parasites.

When purchasing feeders, isolate them for about 10 days. During this period, vaccinate and treat for internal and external parasites. Only healthy animals should be vaccinated, but sometimes there is no choice.

See your County Agent for further information about hogging off or about riding hogs of parasites.

SAMPLE PASTURE SOIL

For best results with pastures and crops planted in early fall, take soil samples now and send to the soils testing laboratory at State College.

If soil in the pasture is sampled now, there is time to get back the results and recommendations before fertilizer and lime is applied. This testing shows the kind and how much fertilizer and lime to use for the best economical crop production.

It is particularly important that oats for fall and winter grazing be fertilized properly and planted on time if they are to best serve their purpose.

Was My Face Red!

"Joe Marsh," the missus says the other day, "get up to your room and straighten out that mess! Get the pliers and screw driver off the dresser. Pick that clock and all its parts up off the floor!"

That much I've heard a hundred times before, like any husband. But she floored me with what she said next. "You write a lot about how important self-help and self-regulation is, and it's about time we had some in this house!"

She was right. Here I've been telling how the Brewers work with beer retailers on their self-

Regulation program for keeping taverns clean and orderly and I haven't been practicing the idea myself!

From where I sit, folks should practice what they preach. And not only "preaches" about Self-Regulation—he practices it, too. Incidentally, I'm fixing up a work bench in my cellar and putting in a good strong electric bulb. One of these days I'll have that old clock ticking away like new!
